

How does the CRGS Main School Charity Committee help develop our British Values?

The Charity Committee's role within school is to provide help and care to organisations which would benefit from our donations.

As a whole, the Charity Committee promotes many British Values within our school. For example, we focus on the less advantaged in society and we work together as a team to come to decisions which everyone is happy with.

Working side by side, everyone's opinions are taken into consideration and discussions are always respectful.

The opportunity given to us as students to be able to choose which charities to donate to and which events to hold in order to raise the required funds, gives us a chance to develop empathy and sensitivity towards others, further contributing to the caring school environment.

We are all passionate about helping others which we hope will reflect onto our future lives when we hope to be considerate citizens.
